How to Apply for the PMP

How to Complete the PMP Exam Application Form?

The PMP® exam application form is available online at the Project Management Institute (PMI)® website. The website requests that you gather numerous pieces of information and enter them into a form. If you've never completed an online form like this before, it may appear not very comforting. You'll need to demonstrate that you meet the exam's eligibility requirements and that your experience spans all relevant domains.

Don't let this stumbling block keep you from achieving your objective of earning the PMP credential. When you have a better idea of what to expect, filling out the online form becomes a lot easier!

We'll tell you exactly what to expect when you apply for the PMP exam, what information you'll need, and what the people reviewing your PMP application are searching for in this article. With a bit of knowledge and planning, you can put together a solid PMP application that stands a good chance of being accepted.

01 How to Apply for the PMP

Your journey to becoming certified as a Project Management Professional (PMP)® begins with the application.

Don't be daunted: It takes just 3 steps to complete the application. The central task is to detail your experience and training to show you've got what it takes to become a PMP.

Read on for an overview of the application process—and words of encouragement from project professionals like yourself who found the certification process worth the effort.

Step Three: Dive into the App

You'll need a pmi.org account to kick the process off.

Tips

Have all the info you've gathered from Step 2 handy so you can sail through the application.

Need a break? Don't worry: You can save the application as you go.

Then What?

Your application will be reviewed and then you'll need to pay an exam fee if you're qualified to move forward.

Member Price: US$405

Non-Member Price: US$555

Once approved to take the exam, you can schedule your exam time at a testing site near you (or you can take it online).

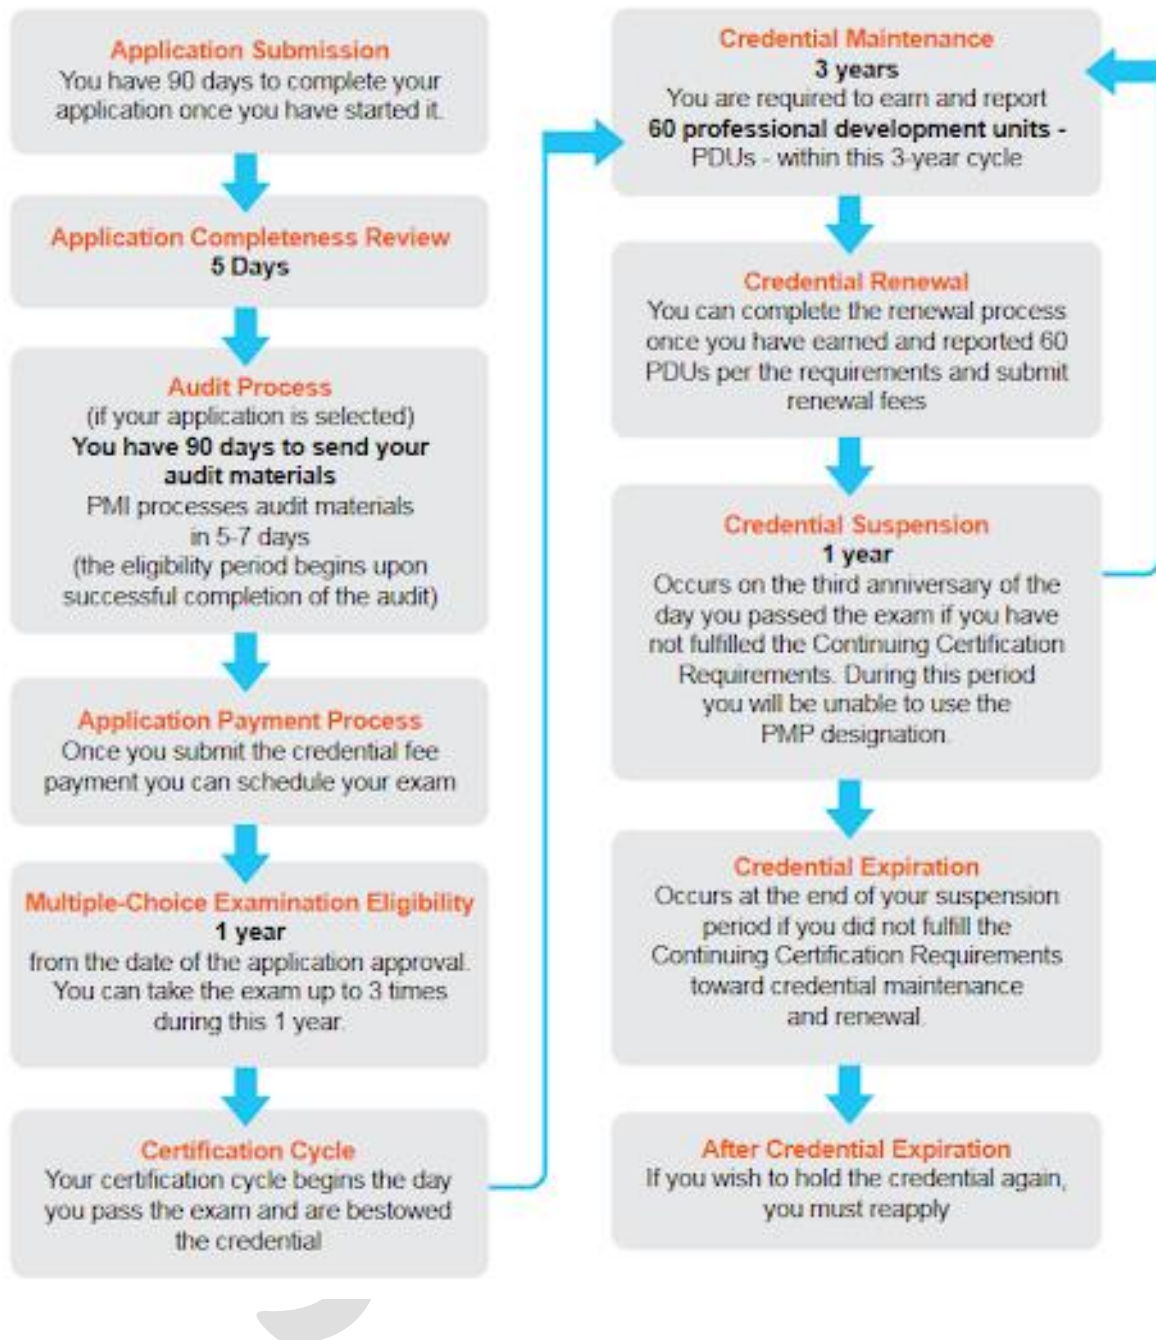

02 What is the PMP Application Process

When you begin filling out your online application form, the PMP application process begins. Once you start, you have 90 days to finish your application. After you submit your form, it is checked for accuracy, which might take up to 5 days. After that, you'll be told whether you're eligible to take the exam and asked to pay the exam price.

How to Apply for the PMP

You could also be alerted that your application has been chosen for an audit. This isn't a problem as long as the information you gave on your application form was honest and truthful. Later in this piece, we'll go through exactly what that means for you.

How to Apply for the PMP

The PMP Handbook, which is available on the PMI website, details the entire application procedure. I strongly advise you to download and study the manual, as it contains many vital data concerning the PMP exam.

03 Where to Get the PMP Application Form?

Log in to mypmi.org on the PMI website. If you aren't currently a PMI member, you'll need to sign up for a free account to get started.

Navigate to your Dashboard once you've logged in. You'll find a link to learn more about PMI's certifications there. After that, go to the Certifications page and select the certificate you want to apply for.

Click to learn more about the PMP certification, and then look for the application link on the PMP page.

Your mypmi.org dashboard also displays the status of any previous applications that have expired or are pending, indicating that you have started but not completed the process. You can also access the online application form by clicking to reopen or continue working on your application (for expired applications) (for pending applications).

How to Apply for the PMP

04 Start to complete the PMP Application form Education Information Section

Start with education section at the very beginning

Enter your highest level of schooling, the years you spent there, and the high school, college, or university you attended, as well as the country in which it was located. You'll also need to include your major.

How to Apply for the PMP

This is where your eligibility is assessed for the first time. To be eligible to take the PMP® test, you must complete specific requirements. The prerequisites are listed in the table below.

Educational Background	Project Management Experience	Project Management Educational
Secondary degree (high school diploma, associate's degree or global equivalent)	Minimum five years/60 months unique non-overlapping professional project management experience*	35 contact hours of formal education unless you are an active CAPM holder
OR
Four-year degree (bachelor's degree or global equivalent)	Minimum three years/36 months unique non-overlapping professional project management experience*	35 contact hours of formal education unless you are an active CAPM holder
OR
Bachelor's or post-graduate degree from a GAC accredited program (bachelor's degree or master's or global equivalent)	Minimum two years/24 months unique non-overlapping professional project management experience*	35 contact hours of formal education unless you are an active CAPM holder

How to Apply for the PMP

--	--	---------------------------

The application system will prompt you to select your GAC accredited program from a drop-down list if you choose an institution that is accredited.

You don't need to know in advance if your course was accredited, but if you want to check, you can find out if your degree is accredited by PMI at the Global Accreditation Center website. If your degree was accredited, you will receive a 12-month credit towards the work experience eligibility requirement. In other words, you'll only have to evidence 24 months of project experience.

If you do not meet those eligibility requirements, it's time to think about your educational background and whether one of the other credentials would be more appropriate for you.

Project Management Education Section

Do NOT fill in this section unless you have already completed your training course. The system will not allow you to save it, if the course end-date is in the future! It will default to the current month you are in. If the course end date is in the future, the system will not enable you to save it! It will default to the month you are currently in.

The next section of the PMP application form covers your project management education. In this section, you need to evidence that you have completed the required amount of project management training hours. That's 35 contact hours for the PMP application.

You must keep track of your training provider's information, as well as the dates and name of the training program. Before you begin filling out your application, double-check that you have these facts.

How to Apply for the PMP

By the time you submit your application, you must have finished your project management education.

This area does not need you to provide your training certificates. You will receive a certificate of attendance from your training provider as proof that you completed the course. Still, you will not be requested to present it until your application is audited.

How to Apply for the PMP

Your project management education is covered in the next portion of the PMP application form. You must demonstrate that you have completed the required number of project management training hours in this area. For the PMP application, this equates to 35 contact hours.

You must keep track of your training provider's information, as well as the dates and names of the training program. Before you begin filling out your application, double-check that you have these facts.

You are asked to complete full details of your work experience on projects. The online form asks for:

- ◆ The project's title
- ◆ The organization where the project was carried out and its primary domain
- ◆ Your job title
- ◆ Your functional reporting area
- ◆ The approach or methodology: you can choose from traditional (waterfall), agile or hybrid
- ◆ The project team size
- ◆ The project budget which you have to give in USD
- ◆ The dates of the project and you can also select if the project is ongoing.
- ◆ A description that summarizes your role and includes information about the project objective, outcome, deliverables, and responsibilities. PMI advises that typical responses range from 200 to 500 words.

You can add more projects to your application to make it comprehensive. You won't be able to go to the third and final level until you've accumulated enough project experience to meet the requirements.

- If you have a secondary or high school diploma, you need to show 60 months of project management experience.

How to Apply for the PMP

- If you have a bachelor's degree, you need to show 36 months of project management experience.
- If you have a GAC accredited degree, you need to show 24 months of project management experience.

What is Project Management Experience Months?

Months of experience refer to the amount of time you spend managing, directing, and leading a project. Depending on your highest degree of education, PMI is searching for a total of 24 to 60 months of experience.

On a project timetable, think of qualifying months like elapsed time and effort time. It's okay if your project dates clash. Many persons are in charge of several projects at the same time. Time spent leading overlapping initiatives, on the other hand, is only counted as elapsed time. Even if you completed three projects in January, the month is still just one month old.

To be clear, even if you supervised many projects, each calendar month counts as a single month of experience.

Try to keep your weekly reported hours to a maximum of 40 hours. You don't have to impress PMI® with how many hours you work or how many projects you can handle at any given moment. However, we all work in the real world, and there are situations when recording more than 40 hours in a week is necessary. For example, you may be required to work long hours around the time of a critical delivery milestone. This is frequent among specialized contractors who have extended periods between assignments.

If you report excessive hours in the PMP experience hours section — above 40 hours per week for an extended period — you will need to substantiate the hours by supplying PMI with documented verification. So, if you're audited, make sure you have a complete backup, such as timesheets or customer bills that demonstrate the hours worked and the task completed.

Quick Tip: Work backward through your career history until you reach the required months, starting with your current or most recent project. It's not necessary to list every project you've ever managed!

You'll have plenty of room to record your adventures. We've heard of candidates conserving their knowledge by describing it in 2,500 words or less, but I wouldn't encourage it! Someone must read your application form. Make your responses as brief as possible. PMI suggests that you use up to 500 words, so use that as a reference.

It's preferable if you could demonstrate that you've gained knowledge and skills in a variety of project management domains and activities. Still, you don't have to detail every project management work you accomplished.

You should, for example, examine the project's stakeholders. You could mention it in one or two project descriptions when crafting your narratives if you completed a stakeholder analysis. Even if you did it every time, you don't have to declare that you examined stakeholders in every report.

Quick Tip: Focus on what you accomplished on the project rather than the project's scope and theme.

Consider using as many keywords as possible in your descriptions. Now is your chance to shine! You'll find several samples on the application form itself that will help you better grasp what PMI is looking for.

How to Apply for the PMP

Continue to add project descriptions and dates until you've reached the full number of months you'll need. Keep in mind that the time is related to your job as the project's leader and director. Overall, you must demonstrate that you have at least two years of project management experience.

Exam Details Section

The exam details section is the last component of the PMP application online form. In this part, you'll fill out your contact information.

You'll need to enter:

- Your address
- Your name in the form it appears on your ID as it must exactly match
- The name you want to appear on your certificate, which does not have to be the same as on your identification
- Your email address
- Your phone number
- The country where you want to take the exam.

You'll also be asked if you need any exam accommodations, such as a disability or other factors that may make it difficult for you to take the exam.

05 Submit PMP Application

You've finished all sections of the online PMP application. All that's left is for you to submit your form by clicking the button.

For your records, you should also save a copy of your application. If you are audited or need to look back at the document in the future, having a copy can be beneficial.

How to Apply for the PMP

When you're satisfied that your application form's information is as correct and complete as possible, submit it using the instructions on the screen.

Take the time to read the terms and conditions. Then check the boxes indicating that you agree to the terms and that all of the information you've given is correct.

All you have to do now is click "Submit Application," and your application will be sent!

The screenshot shows a portion of the PMP application form. The first section is titled "Exam Location" and asks "Where do you intend to take this exam? *". Below this is a dropdown menu with "India" selected. The second section is titled "Exam Accommodations" and asks "Do you wish to request exam accommodations? *". It includes a note: "If you require exam accommodations related to a disability in order to take the examination, you must provide information about your disability as well as copy of your doctor's note describing your condition in detail prior to scheduling your exam." and a link: "View the Exam Accommodations page for more information." Below this are two buttons: "Yes" and "No". At the bottom of the form, there are two checkboxes: "I agree to the terms and agreements *" and "All information that I have provided is accurate and complete *".

06 PMP Application Tips

- ✓ Make sure someone is available to receive any correspondence from PMI® as well as your PMP certificate when it arrives at the address you specify.
- ✓ Make sure you can show experience in all of the process groups in your experience section.
- ✓ Before you apply, speak with the project managers or project sponsors to ensure that they will be available if needed.
- ✓ All of your project management evidence should be kept in one place. You'll have no trouble finding the certificates you need if you need to access them for an audit.
- ✓ Allow yourself plenty of time. Filling in all of the information may take longer than you imagine.

How to Apply for the PMP

- ✓ Keep all of your educational and work certificates on hand.
- ✓ If your previous boss has moved on, contact all of your past bosses or their replacements. Tell them about your application and that the PMI may get them to verify your credentials.
- ✓ Remember to notify your existing boss, as the PMI will most likely contact them if you are chosen for an audit.
